Organiser: Glen Frost, Director, Frocomm Australia P/L; email: glenfrost@frocomm.com.au

Housing Affordability is a real and growing concern for the millennial group of Australians (born between 1982-1999) and other groups looking to get onto the property ladder. The cost of a family home is now out of reach for the average family, and is having a social, economic and political impact. This conference seeks to bring together people to address the historic lows in home ownership levels in the short, medium and long term.

The Housing Affordability Summit is for people prepared to drive the change needed to make housing affordable.

Senator The Hon. Doug Cameron, Shadow Minister for Housing and Homelessness

Senator Richard Di Natale, Leader, Australian Greens

The Hon. John Alexander MP, Member for Bennelong

The Hon. Rebekha Sharkie MP, Federal Member for Mayo

Abby Bloom, Board Member, The Longevity Innovation Fund

Kathryn Greiner AO, Australian Politician and Social Advocate

Glen Frost, Entrepreneur and Social Justice Advocate. Summit Chair

Councillor Philip Thalys, City of Sydney

ABOUT THE ORGANISER:

Frocomm Australia is an independent provider of conferences and events specialising in topical issues that impact our economy and society. Over the years we have produced and organised summits on a variety of topics including; The Climate Change Summit, The New Media Summit and the Sydney Summit on Russia. Our conferences are always independent and not tied to any political party, NGO or political action group. Taking our cue from The World Economic Forum, we believe "that progress happens by bringing together people from all walks of life who have the drive and the influence to make positive change".
